Employee Journey

This is a journey of an employee using MYOB PayGlobal Self-Service. Because of the power of workflow, the journey can be customised to meet an organisation’s specific requirements.

1 Onboarding

Ralph is a new employee. Before a new employee starts, their manager enters their personal and position details, and then submits the new employee request. HR reviews, updates, and approves the request. On the new employee’s first day, in this instance Ralph, his manager can record what assets are issued to him, as an example – a laptop, mobile phone and swipe card.

8 Employee transfer and cessation

After showing leadership potential, Ralph is promoted to a managerial position. His new manager submits a transfer request, which is approved. The organisation chart updates so Ralph can see where his new role fits within the company. An employee who reports to Ralph resigns, so Ralph records the cessation. The employee then completes an exit questionnaire. Ralph checks the issued items assigned to the employee and records when these items are returned.

10 Reporting

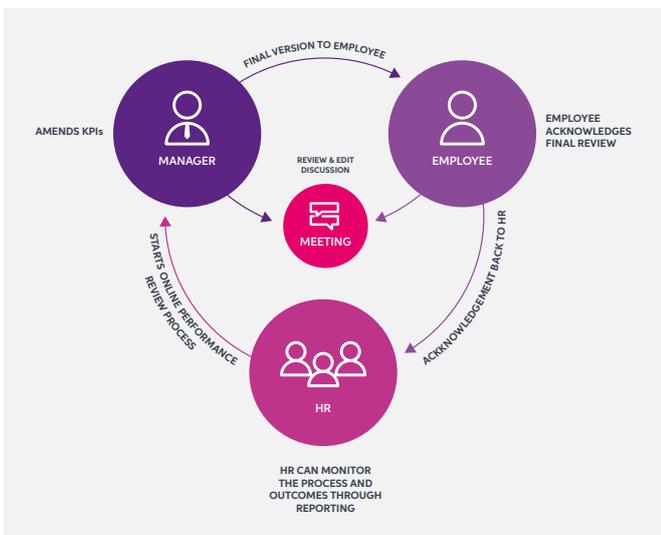

In his new position, Ralph can see information about the employees who report to him. He can also run SQL Server Reporting Services (SSRS) reports from Self-Service, such as leave liability and demographics, which provide him with current and accurate information to assist with his workforce planning. The HR team can also report out of Self-Service for company wide information, such as leave liability, sick leave trends, performance reviews, and more.

9 Performance

At performance review time, Ralph receives a reminder from his manager to go in and complete his review, which includes: key performance indicators (KPIs), behaviours, his development plan, and comments to support his ratings.

Ralph then completes the manager sections of his employees' reviews. He then has a discussion with each of his employees. After the discussion, Ralph updates the reviews and sends to the employees for them to acknowledge.
